sie) Tate of Picayune; Rep. Curtis Holston of Poplarville; Rep. Walter Phillips of Bay St. Louis, and Senator Martin T. Smith of Poplarville. Some 250 new jobs which NASA statistics say should pay around $30,000 each annually are expected to materialize as a result of the center. (State Senate Photo).

City of Waveland

Fire Department could obtain higher rating

BY DENA BISNETTE

Waveland homeowners may get a break on their fire insurance if the Waveland Fire Department can fulfill three more requirements for a class seven rating.

Fire Chief Don McIntyre presented the results of a recent State Rating Bureau fire department inspection to the Waveland board of aldermen Wednesday night.

The fire department is presently rated class eight on a 10-to-one rating scale used to determine the cost of fire insurance in its service area.

McIntyre said the rating is based on several factors, including the city's water system, fire department equipment and number and training level of department personnel.

The fire chief said there were four recommendations for Waveland in a letter signed by State Rating Bureau Field Representative Joe S. Shumaker and mailed to the department a week after the inspection.

Only three, however, are required for class seven. They include an annual inspection and maintenance program for all hydrants in the city's water distribution system, the addition of some minor equipment for two pumper trucks and the purchase of additional clean-up equipment to reduce smoke and water damage at fire sites.

The fourth recommendation concerned replacement of a 1970 pumper truck, but McIntyre told the aldermen that the truck runs well and could be modernized rather than replaced, thereby reducing costs.

The board authorized McIntyre to look into the costs of meeting the class seven requirements. He will present a report of his findings to the board at its next meeting May 7.

Research the chief has already done indicates that the highest cost will be for the additional equipment for the pumpers, which consists mostly of tools and fittings. The total cost of these items could be as high as $12,000, he said.

He said testing of the hydrants would be "just a minor problem" because most of them have been maintained well and are "in pretty

Jury finds Lee guilty in Friday rape trial

James E. Lee, charged with raping a 21-year-old Picayune woman three months after her release from a Louisiana prison, was found guilty Friday in Hancock County Circuit Court.

The jury deliberated for less than one hour before returning the verdict.

Circuit Judge James Thomas sentenced Lee, whose Louisiana prison term was 13 months on charges of having carnal knowledge of a minor, to 40 years in the state penitentiary at Parchman.

Lee did not testify in his own defense, but the courtroom was cleared of spectators on Thomas' order while the victim testified against Lee.

According to a summary of the victim's testimony by Assistant District Attorney J.P. Compreta, the woman had befriended Lee after he had represented himself as a born-again Christian.

On July 28, she accompanied him to a wooded area off Rocky Hill Delisle Road because Lee had told her he wanted her to see some land he was considering buying.

Lee allegedly raped the woman about five times before taking her to her mother's home about 90 minutes later.

Wagner named architect for Gulfview addition

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has named Fred Wagner as architect for an addition to Gulfview Elementary School.

Wagner was selected on the recommendation of board president Bill Faye Lyons at a special board meeting Saturday.

The choice was approved four-to-one in a roll call vote with Beat Five school board representative Lenette Nacaise opposing.

Nacaise said she feels Wagner is highly qualified for the job but voted against using his services because the fee quoted in his proposal was higher than that of other architects expressing interest in the job.

Wagner had been the board's original selection for the project but withdrew after being told his fee, seven percent of the total cost, was too high to allow the district to obtain state funding for the six-classroom addition.

Projects must have architectural fees of six percent or less if they are to be considered for funding by the State Educational Finance Commission.

Nacaise said that several of other architects had quoted fees of six percent or less and asked why Lyons wanted Wagner.

Lyons said Wagner was most qualified and was familiar with the needs of the school district because he had done previous work on the schools.

In a related matter, the board discussed the possibility of obtaining information of projected growth and other factors affecting a proposed long-range building program from Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph was authorized to look into possible costs and report at a later meeting.

Randolph was also authorized to find out if the district can lease part of the facilities at Annunciation Catholic School in Kiln for kindergarten classrooms.

Annunciation will close its elementary school at the end of the current term and will use only two of its classrooms for a kindergarten and pre-school program.

In other business, the board discussed legal questions concerning possible resignations by at least two of the district's coaches.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex said the coaches have already been ap-

After attending a Wednesday public hearing in Slidell, La., Hancock County Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar says he will oppose flood control proposals he feels are detrimental to Pearlington.

Kellar said that he will ask the board of supervisors to go on record opposing any plan that adds to flooding in the Pearlington area.

He said two proposals for levees to control flooding of the West Pearl River in the Slidell area were discussed at the hearing.

One plan was proposed by the Corps and involved the constructions of levees on the river's west bank both north and south of Interstate 10.

The other, a less favored plan, was proposed by the Louisiana Department of Transportation and involved the expansion of existing flood con-

In other business, the board postponed a discussion about a proposed community work center for minimum security prisoners because members of the county board of supervisors expected to take part in the meeting were unable to attend.

The board also approved advertising for bids on a paving project involving several city streets. Specific streets to be included in the program will be discussed at a later meeting.

Quilt values can soar as high as $11,200

By Joe Pillet

Linda Mueller of Long Beach was featured on a program given for members of the Friendship Oak Chapter, National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, when the group met Wednesday, April 10 in the home of Mrs. Robert C. Willems of Parkwood Drive, Long Beach.

Mrs. Mueller, a designer, historian and collector of quilts, gave the group several clues for determining the age of quilts and displayed her private collection of favorites acquired through a period of some 18 years.

Quilts included such well known favorites as the Lone Star, Log Cabin, Flower Basket, Wind Mill, and Bow Tie.

In buying a quilt, Mrs. Mueller said the first question is an honest "Do you like it?" Old quilts vary in price, however, expect to pay between $200 to $400.

New quilts are more expensive, possibly $700 and upward.

"Memory Pictures," relatively new in quilt designs, and line fabric quilts are now bringing excellent prices. One made in 1970 by Mrs. Ethel Mohamed of Belzoni brought $11,200 on the auction block.

Mrs. Mohamed donated the quilt to the American Heart Association. Other high priced quilts include the work of Meali Kalama of Hawaii. Her quilts are used as wall hangings in the Mauna Kae Beach Hotel and carry price tags of $2,000 to $3,000 each.

Most of Mrs. Mueller's collection came from Ohio and Kentucky. For the most part they were selected and purchased by her husband, Mitchell, who is employed at Borg Warner and has a deep respect and appreciation of fine quilts.

In selecting quilts Mrs. Mueller said it's wise to study the patterns, color harmony, number of stitches per inch, the binding, workmanship and the condition of the quilt. Finest quilting runs 16 to 18 stitches per inch.

Tracing the history of quilts from the 1700s through to modern times,

Mrs. Mueller discussed cross stitch, piecing, applique, and the little known "glazed wool" which was popular between 1700-1750. The shiny on wool glazed quilts was achieved with egg white, she explained.

"The history of our country can be traced through quilting," Mrs. Mueller said.

She told of the "calico craze," the unstable dyes, the feed sack prints of depression years, the "crazy quilts" made of odds and ends of material stitched together with no pattern or plan, quilts of the three-ply thread, the six-ply thread, and the influence of the sewing machine, the discovery of India ink, and improved color proof dyes.

"Reds are the most difficult colors," Mrs. Mueller said, and advised red materials even of today's manufacture be washed at least three times before using in a quilt.

"There are now over 4,000 quilt patterns in use," she explained and said color coordinating which become popular in 1980 is fashionable.

She displayed a handsome color coordinated quilt which she designed for her bedroom, and also a cleverly made child's quilt, now used as a wall hanging.

The hostess selected as a table cover a leaf pattern quilt that has been an early heirloom, and guests and members were served a tempting array of brunch sandwiches, hot breads and assorted muffins.

Guests included Mrs. Marie N. Martin of Goshen, Ind. and young Nathaniel Lisenbee, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lisenbee, whom the Friendship Oak Chapter have claimed as their CAR (Child of the American Revolution).

The group wished their regent, Mrs. Philip Davenport, bon voyage. She is attending the 94th Continental Congress meeting in Washington April 19-20.

Others on the program included Mrs. William J. Gemmill of Diamondhead, who gave the National Defense Message, and Mrs. James E. Young of Long Beach who offered a report on Indian Affairs.

Giant magnet at Ochsner to probe body's secrets

The public will get a rare opportunity to view one of the latest medical marvels when the Ochsner Medical Institutions formally unveils a new Center for Medical Magnetic Resonance at an open house Saturday, May 4 from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the hospital, 1516 Jefferson Hwy., New Orleans, La.

The focal point of all the interest will be an eight-ton superconducting magnet, the heart of a magnetic resonance imaging system, which makes possible a new way of looking into the human body and can yield information never possible before.

The Ochsner system, which has been undergoing preliminary clinical testing since March, is the first magnetic resonance imaging unit to go into service in the New Orleans area.

The new $3.5 million center, which is housed in a recently completed building located at the rear of the hospital on the Ochsner grounds, will have a three-pronged purpose—diagnostic imaging, education and research, says Dr. Christopher R.B. Merritt, head of the department of diagnostic radiology.

"This isn't just another expensive machine. Ochsner will use it as the focus of a regional center for patient care as well as education and research," he adds.

Visitors on opening day will be offered exhibits and examples of studies done with the magnetic resonance system and with other diagnostic imaging systems. Every hour there will be short lectures on the capabilities of the equipment as well as tours of the center itself. "Those attending will have the opportunity to ask questions of the physicians and technologists staffing the new service," Dr. Merritt points out.

The equipment installed in the Ochsner magnetic resonance center is unique. At present, there are over 150 MRI scanners scheduled for installation in the United States by the end of 1985. Of these, the Ochsner installation will be one of eight capable of operating at 2.0 Tesla, the magnet's unit of measure. This will give us extraordinary capabilities not only in patient care and diagnosis, but in research and teaching as well," he explains.

Magnetic resonance produces images of the body using a strong magnetic field rather than radiation and can yield extremely detailed images. It has been found particularly useful in the early identification and evaluation of disease of the nervous system, including the brain and spine, as well as for imaging in the abdomen, pelvis and cardiovascular system.

Although the clinical applications of magnetic resonance are of greatest importance to Ochsner, the research potential of the huge scanner will also be explored. Research projects and clinical investigations are being developed in the areas of heart and brain disease in both adults and children, cancer diagnosis, as well as in the basic research areas of molecular biology and cellular immunology.

A third important element of the magnetic resonance center at Ochsner involves teaching. "Our MRI facility will provide spacious areas for conferences, seminars and other training activities. We are planning for our facilities to become a major learning center for physicians, researchers and technologists interested in this exciting new field. We will soon offer a regular series of education seminars, short courses and fellowships to fulfill what we regard as our educational commitment to the community," Dr. Merritt states.

The 9000 square foot, single story building housing the scanner will include a special scanner room lined with a stainless steel radio frequency shield to protect the scanner from interference from outside sources of radio frequency energy. The scanner is designed so that the patient is placed literally into the center of the huge magnet. The non-invasive procedure may last from 30 minutes to one hour, but the patient feels no discomfort during that time.

"Dirty Rice"—not really dirty at all, of course; it gets its name from the color—is just one of the Louisiana Cajun country's great gifts to the palate.

All up and down the bayous of south Louisiana you'll find endless variations of the basic Cajun recipe, each housewife or chef having a special version.

A meal in itself, with a green salad, Dirty Rice is often served also as an accompaniment to turkey, chicken or other main dishes. It's an excellent addition to the buffet table and a delicious "meal-stretcher" in these days of sky-high prices.

Some cooks use the chicken or turkey giblets, others omit them; some use chicken livers, others ground beef, and I've tasted good dirty rice made with oysters, also. Here's a version of:

DIRTY RICE

2 cups cooked rice
2 Tbsp. oil or fat
2 Tbsp. flour
4 green onions, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced or chopped
1/4 cup bell (green) pepper, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 to 1 lb. ground beef chicken giblets (1/2 to 1 lb.) diced
Dashes of Tabasco and Worcestershire

Black and cayenne pepper, salt to taste

First, of course, make your roux with the fat and flour, stirring together and cooking over medium heat, until the flour browns. Add the onions, garlic, green pepper and celery and cook until barely softened.

Add the ground meat and giblets—the livers, too, if you're using them, and continue cooking over medium heat until the meat cooks through and turns a pale brown. Add a sufficient amount of broth, bouillon or water, into which you've dissolved a bouillon cube, to make a rather thickish gravy.

Splash in the hot pepper sauce and the Worcestershire sauce, according to your palate, and add the pepper, and then salt, if you wish.

Continue cooking slowly for about a half-hour or less, to mix all the flavors together, but be careful not to let the mixture dry out—if it starts to do so, add a little liquid as needed. Mix the rice in, blending well, and serve.

USM Opera to stage 'Figaro'

The timeless plots, schemes and trickery of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the University of Southern Mississippi Performing Arts Center in Hattiesburg.

The USM Opera Theatre presentation is an English translation by Ruth and Thomas Martin of the French comedy by Beaumarchais, according to Karl Brock, opera theatre director.

Brock, who adapted parts of the opera to dialogue to "make it move much faster," said "Figaro" is one of the most popular comic opera ever written. "Anyone who saw 'Amadeus,' this year's Best Picture, also saw some scenes from 'Figaro,'" he said.

Count Almaviva (baritone Robert Magee) has designs on Susanna (soprano Shawn Comfort) who is engaged to Figaro (baritone Gregory Smith). The count weaves a web of deceit that eventually entangles him.

The count's young page, Cherubino (soprano Janet Britton), overhears his master making advances to Susanna and informs his mistress, the Countess (soprano Barbara Stephenson). The three make plans to entrap the count when he goes to the garden to meet Susanna.

Cherubino dresses as Susanna at first and when this ploy fails, the countess puts on Susanna's clothes. The outwitted count is caught and forced to apologize.

LET'S RE-ELECT SHELDON SEUZENEAU COUNCILMAN WARD 4

The Best We've Ever Had

For four years Sheldon Seuzeneau has been the kind of Ward 4 Councilman the people of Bay St. Louis always wanted and never had.

An old saying tells us that a councilman's office is only as strong as the character of the man we elect to that important position.

That's why for the last four years Bay St. Louis has had an office that brought wide recognition—instead of scorn and ridicule—to our city. Sheldon Seuzeneau is a man of great character, a dedicated public servant who brought constructive change and innovation to this vital link in our quest for progress.

His record, constructive and dedicated, speaks for itself. He has been one of the most successful city officials in our history.

The present office bears little resemblance to the office when Sheldon Seuzeneau first was elected with the hopes and good faith of citizens. Nearly everything has changed, but the honest, stubborn determination of this man of character. He remains dedicated to the ultimate victory in the fight against the ills of our city, at the same time, creating new areas of assistance to its citizens.

Campaigning by candidates and their supporters is beginning to pickup in Bay St. Louis for the May 14 primary.

We have heard from several candidates and their supporters about campaign signs being damaged or torn down.

Candidates spend a lot of money to have signs made and they are part of the campaign process used by many.

We do realize there are many restrictions on the posting of signs, and the majority of candidates are aware of them. If there are violations, it is up to law enforcement to handle the situation and should not be taken upon by individuals.

If political signs are being damaged and removed, it is probably being done by just a few persons. It should be realized that it is the freedom of any citizen to support the candidate or candidates of their choice, and if they post a sign for their choice on their property it should not be removed by anyone.

As we have mentioned previously, there are ordinances and laws preventing posters and stickers being placed on utility poles and street signs.

"An Evening with Pete Fountain", is scheduled for May 19 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum sponsored by Hancock and Harrison Counties American Cancer Society.

Local Cancer Society workers are striving to make this a very successful fund raiser.

As many of you know, Pete has a "get away from it all" home in Bay St. Louis and is well known throughout the country.

The theme of the evening with Pete Fountain is "Make a Miracle Happen."

Tickets for "An Evening with Pete Fountain" may be obtained by calling 467-1573 or 895-7024.

Since there are so many candidates seeking office in Bay St. Louis, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor two political forums, one for mayoral candidates and the other for councilmen.

The forum for mayoral candidates will be May 1, 7 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Third Street, Bay St. Louis.

Gov. Bill Allain

News From The Governor's Office

HOLDING SPENDING DOWN
On Feb. 28, I vetoed a bill appropriating $626,010 to the state treasurer's office for next year. Much speculation has occurred regarding my reasons for vetoing this legislation, so I am taking this opportunity to explain to you my reasons for opposing it.

First, let me tell you about one provision of the bill that I did not oppose—the pay raises for state employees. This legislation includes a section that would give state employees productivity pay raises and realign state employee salaries to competitive levels. I did not object to this proposal. Had the bill come to my desk within the budget and with this state employee pay raise included, I would have taken appropriate action. I endorse the state employee pay raises because they are within the amount of revenue we have available.

I vetoed the bill because it was 11.5 percent over the revenue we have available. If we continued at that rate of spending on every appropriation bill, we would spend $169 million over the revenue.

Appropriation bills approved already by either the House or Senate have spent a total of $1.48 million, without appropriating anything yet for teacher pay or highways. We only have $1.51 million available. So, at the current rate of spending, we would have only $29 million left in the budget for teacher pay and highways to split. Obviously, at this rate of spending, we are talking about a huge tax increase, which I oppose.

I have no problem with the state treasurer's office as such. I vetoed this bill because it was over the budget. In my veto message, I pointed out that I would have vetoed any agency's budget that crossed my desk and was over budget in a similar manner. I want all spending to be within the currently projected revenues of this state.

Two factors have brought me to the conclusion that Mississippians cannot afford to pay more taxes next year.

First, statewide reappraisal is causing many of you to pay higher local taxes. Some counties have already mailed their tax bills and you are receiving those bills now. Some counties have received extensions and those tax bills are yet to come. At any rate, this creates an uncertain situation about the amount of local taxes that our people will be paying.

Secondly, the federal budget in Washington—by even the best, most optimistic estimates—will have a profound impact on Mississippians if the currently proposed cuts are put into effect.

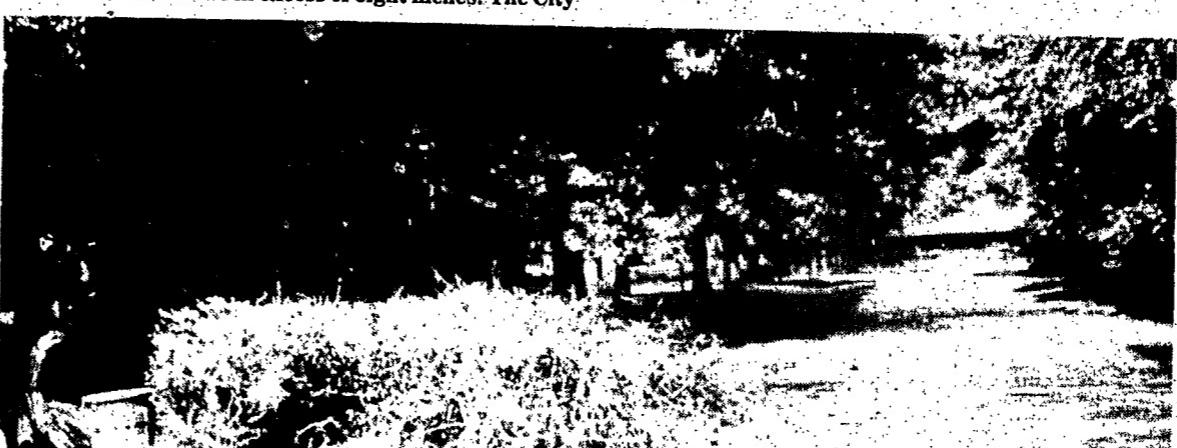

Mississippi programs could lose as much as $160 million, without even studying the proposed cuts in education programs. When you figure that those dollars turn over in our economy an estimated seven times, you can see the impact these cuts will have on us. With the federal budget pending, this too is a fluid situation that will affect our state budget.

These unknown factors that could drastically affect our state's revenue picture have caused enough doubt in my mind and in the minds of many of our budget officials and economists to maintain my opposition to tax increase proposals.

TRASH WOES—This is the time of year when many folks do an extra amount of yard cleaning which ends up causing garbage collectors problems when the trash is not properly handled. The top photo was taken Friday on Jeff Davis Avenue and the bottom one on Amelida Street, both in Waveland, and both piles are in violation of a city ordinance. In part the ordinance states trash should be in lengths no greater than six feet and shall be tied with a rope, wire or other means of packaging so it can be easily handled by the City Sanitation forces. The bundles should not weigh more than 60 pounds or trees or limbs should not be in excess of eight inches. The City of Waveland collects trash on Wednesday of each week, and it is not possible to cover the city when trash, (we are not talking about garbage) is piled in every direction. The requirement on size and weight eliminates the collecting of washing machines, refrigerators, roofing, building materials, etc. We have also been told by a spokesman that there is a limit on the amount of trash the city will collect. We know the City of Bay St. Louis also has a trash ordinance which calls for certain specifications. If you have any questions, we suggest you call city hall. (Staff photos by Ellis Cuevas).

Destruction of political candidates' signs an un-American gesture

To the Editor,

On Wednesday night, some sick person (or persons) came on our property and destroyed a sign saying whom we are supporting for mayor.

We would like to know what has happened to this country.

What kind of people do we have here that get their kicks from destroying other's property? Don't they realize that by doing this, they are breaking the law.

What we have in our yard is our property and should be respected. I hope that whoever is doing this will realize how un-American they are and that they will never change anyone's vote for whom they want to govern our city.

BaySide residents continue plea for more visible entrance to subdivision at night

April 17, 1985

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

Among many other residents in BaySide Park, I am in total agreement with the folks who recently wrote to you relative to a marker of some sort at the park's entrance.

Several years ago there was a light at the entrance for a short time during the summer months.

Rumor has it that the light is no longer there because it had been "shot out" so many times.

I find this hard to believe, particularly since we have a security light, as do many others in the park, and in five years our light has never been "shot out."

It is about time for BaySide Park management to get off their "haunches" and do something to make the entrance more visible and the subdivision more accessible at night.

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Gloria Autrey

Teenage volunteer efforts go unnoticed by nursing home administrators

Letters to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Who owns and operates the Hotel Reed Nursing Center? My daughter, with a group of teenage volunteers, has been visiting and entertaining weekly the residents at the center.

The group has yet to meet the administrator or receive a note of recognition or encouragement from those in charge for the joy that they bring to the elderly people there.

To me this is poor public relations. I feel certain that, with some encouragement and cooperation from the administrator, many members of our community would willingly become more involved in trying to make the lives of these lonely and often forgotten residents at the center a little happier.

Success of Sand Beach Council vital to economic health and lifestyle quality of the area

Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Congratulations are in order for your publisher, Mr. Ellis Cuevas, being appointed to the Hancock-Harrison Sandbeach Council. I wish the group well and sincerely hope that the council will persevere and see the plan through in a satisfactory manner.

Success of the much-needed plan to replenish the sand on our beaches and to make improvements in other ways will require the cooperation of most of our citizenry as well as the elected public officials of Hancock and Harrison counties and the communities therein.

Speaking of elected officials, I am in hope that the candidates in the upcoming local election will let us know, through your medium and other media, exactly how they stand on the issue of improving our beaches, not only for the benefit of our citizens, but also for our visitors, many of whom are our friends and many of whom are potential citizens of our beautiful area.

Sincerely,

RSVP Report

By Theresa James
Director

The week of April 22-26 has been proclaimed National Volunteer Week.

The retired Senior Volunteer Program is the agency in Hancock County which uses volunteers who are 60 or over and placing them in non-profit agencies.

Some 310 volunteers are enrolled and they served 70,000 hours during the year April 1, 1984 to March 31, 1985.

Many agencies depend on volunteers to help with their operations.

Volunteers are only used as help with the paid staff and are never used to replace paid employees.

The following are some of the agencies in Hancock County who use volunteers:

Senior Citizens Center, Waveland Hospitality Center, chamber of commerce, nursing homes, Child Development Center, Waveland Civic Association, Senior Craft Shop, Hancock General Hospital, VA Hospital and Christ Episcopal School.

Volunteers are offered opportunities to serve the community in the areas they feel they can contribute most.

The agencies mentioned above are only a part of the areas where volunteers offer their services.

A majority of volunteers provide in-home service—providing meals-on-wheels, cleaning and cooking for home bound, cleaning and visiting ill, performing services such as paying bills, shopping, transporting to and from doctors' offices, delivering medicines which they have picked up at the store, and many other activities too numerous to mention.

Without these services under the station name of "Operation Helping Hand," many of the ill would have to be institutionalized.

Many volunteers also use the telephone to call those living alone. They make at least one call a day to the person assigned to them.

If there is no answer, they then notify a relative or a neighbor.

Sometimes they call us in our office and we then proceed to find out if that person is ill.

If you can, imagine what our community would be like without volunteers.

These volunteers perform services day after day and year after year, without very much notice.

That is why we should all salute all of those who still care about our fellow men and do something about it.

They don't just talk, they really perform—70,000 hours worth last year.

ETV Briefs

STRAWBERRY CROP

"Farmweek" reporters will visit a Covington County farmer, who, like an increasing number of farm operators in Mississippi, is forgoing traditional Southern row crops and opting instead for specialized products—in this case, strawberries.

The feature is scheduled to air at 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 29, on Mississippi ETV.

Each week, "Farmweek" carries segments on market prices, market analyses, local and national farm news, weather forecasts, specific advice for producers of various commodities and a calendar of Mississippi agricultural events. "Farmweek" is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

SESAME STREET

"Don't Eat the Pictures: 'Sesame Street' at the Metropolitan Museum of Art," the family special taped at the Metropolitan Museum of Art and first shown on ETV in November 1983, will be rebroadcast at 8 p.m., Monday, April 29, on Mississippi ETV. It also can be seen at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 4.

The program finds the gang accidentally locked in the museum overnight and left to get acquainted with its many wonders.

The special, which features five original songs and cameo appearances by James Mason, Fritz Weaver and Paul Dooley, aims not only to entertain but to show youngsters and their families how museums are links to the past, said producer Dulcy Singer. An epilogue will urge families to discover the treasures to be found in their own local museums.

"Sesame Street" can be seen regularly on Mississippi ETV at 7 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., weekdays.

Budget for proposed academy to be presented Thursday

BY DENA BISSETTE

A proposed budget and building plans for Diamondhead Academy will be presented to the public Thursday.

According to interim school board member Bonnie King, the board will complete the plans at its Tuesday meeting.

The public meeting Thursday will be 7:30 p.m. in the Mississippi Room at Diamondhead Inn.

King said a brochure outlining the proposed elementary school's educational philosophy and objectives has been prepared for distribution at the meeting.

The brochure also contains information about registration procedures and construction plans.

Also at the meeting will be a representative from "Open Court," a language arts program slated for use at the academy. According to King, the program is presently being tested for students enrolled in a kindergarten program operated by Diamondhead Community Church.

In addition, plans for fundraising projects for the new school will be outlined.

King said the school has already registered 28 of the 100 students needed to make the project economically feasible.

In addition, mobile classrooms units to house grades one through six are presently being obtained, and will be placed on a site donated by Purcell Company. They will be fixed until the new facility is ready, she said.

A screening committee of retired and active teachers is already looking at applications for presentation to the board, King added. She said several qualified people have applied for both teaching and administrative positions but said applications are still being accepted.

"Anyone interested in the school, even people who don't have children, may attend Thursday's meeting," King said. "We need the support of the whole community for this project."

More information is available from King at 255-1895.

On building a credit history

This is a special concern to women who only a few years ago could not obtain credit based on their own income. One key step in building a credit rating is to apply for a retail store card.

If you are married and want to build a credit history that is "unquestionably yours" get an "authorized user" card for your husband instead of opening a joint account. That way, the account is in your name and based solely on your income.

Ideally you should check your file every few years, sooner if you have moved or changed your name, for accurate reporting of credit in your name.

Your creditors can provide you with the credit reporting agency holding your file. A fee for checking your file between $5 and $10 is assessed.

For Harrison County, the number of the local credit bureau is (601) 863-7171. For other counties, it is (601) 863-7175. The charge for information from your credit file is $7. However, you may see your credit file information for free if you have been denied credit within the past 30 days.

Sylvan Ladner seeking Bay Ward Two council seat

Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. has announced his candidacy for the Ward 2 seat on the Bay St. Louis City Council in the May 14 Democratic primary.

Ladner, 69, is a former Hancock County sheriff and was Bay St. Louis finance commissioner under the city's earlier form of government.

He served 16 years as sheriff. In his first two terms, beginning in 1956 and in 1964, the job combined the tasks of sheriff and tax collector.

At that time, an incumbent could not succeed himself.

He served again in 1972 and was re-elected for a four-year term that began in 1976. He chose not to run in 1980 because of an injury.

"I am running for office now since about 25 or 30 people contacted me because I had served in public office before and they want me in again," Ladner said.

"In our ward, I'll be able to a full-time councilman with time to check drainage, the conditions of the roads and beautification. There should be improvements made in streets," he said.

"I would like to try to get federal aid for improvements. We have streets in very bad condition that need complete coverage, not just patchwork."

Ladner lives with his wife and their youngest child at 320 Carroll

Ave. The Ladners are the parents of five children and have five grandchildren.

Ladner was born and reared in Bay St. Louis.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan J. Ladner Sr. and is married to the former Mary Helen Bourgeois of Waveland.

They have five children: Mary Toni Davis of Semmes, La.; Sylvan Ladner III of Pace Fla.; Don Ladner of Petal; Tracy Ladner and Michael Ladner, both of Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Ladner is a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, Bay Rotary Club, Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers Association and president of the Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club.

He attended Bay High School and graduated from St. Stanislaus.

Ladner has been employed by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. for 18 years. He was elected and served seven years as a Bay St. Louis insurance commissioner.

"I am the first and only sheriff in the history of Hancock County to be elected four times and one of the few in the whole state of Mississippi. I was also one of the first to be elected to a city official's job and to a county official's job," the candidate stated.

"I am appealing to each and every voter in Ward Two for their vote and support. I will attempt to see each and every one of you personally and to discuss with you the improvements you think are necessary and important to our ward," Ladner continued.

"If I fail to see you please accept this as my request for your vote and support so that I may serve as your city councilman," Ladner added.

My letter to you is a personal message about our city and its future. As you may know, I am a qualified candidate for Mayor of Bay St. Louis.

Your help and influence are needed to bring honest and efficient government to our community. I ask for your support in this important undertaking.

It is my intention to return City Hall to the taxpayers. Your tax dollars can be spent wisely and efficiently to upgrade city services, and to meet our projected growth with a master plan that looks to the future with practical means to take us into a new era of prosperity.

I am not politically obligated to any faction. This is why I can bring a personal honesty and integrity to City Hall.

My experience in the private sector gives me a working background to city services. I have been a mechanical contractor, drilled water wells, and have successfully run a home improvement business. I am an active Real Estate Broker, have done appraisal work, and operate the Big "E" Grocery and Seafood.

Experience, determination, honesty, integrity and... enthusiasm are my capabilities to be your next mayor of Bay St. Louis.

We can do it. We can change things. With your help and support our beloved city can progress in a conservative and constructive path.

Any support you can give this undertaking...at the polls, as you vote, calling friends on the phone, ringing doorbells, financial contributions, a sign in your yard, whatever...will bring about a change-of, by, and for the people.

Sincerely,

Kelvin Schulz

LeBon—Hill

The Most Holy Name of Jesus Church in New Orleans was the setting for the Saturday, March 16, wedding at 7 p.m. of Mallie Kay Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Doyle Hill, Houma, La., and Dr. Brian Gerard LeBon, son of Mrs. Lawrence Joseph LeBon Jr., or

New Orleans and the late Dr. LeBon. The Rev. J. Emile Pfister, SJ, former pastor of Holy Name and friend of the LeBon family was the officiant at the pledging of the marriage vows and celebrant of the Nuptial Mass.

The symbolic candlelight ceremony, signifying "two becoming one," was a part of the liturgy.

Scriptural readings were given by Miss Ashley LeBon Dorsey, the groom's niece and Mr. Richard Pechey, friend of the couple.

Musical selections were performed by Mr. Kenneth Allen, organist,

Mr. Steven Dupre, soloist, and a brass ensemble consisting of five members of Loyola University's faculty. Among the selections rendered were "Because," "Wedding Song," "On Eagle's Wing," "Panis Angelicus," "Trumpet's Voluntary" and "Ave Maria."

Arrangements of mauve rubrum lilies, white asters, spider mums, galidolas and greenery in urns resting on garlanded fluted columns flanked the altar. Similar bouquets rested at the base of the sanctuary's background crucifixion scene and upon the high altar. Flanking the tabernacle were bouquets of varied white flowers with greenery. Along the center aisle, triple globed candelabras on white standards entwined with stephanotis and white ribbon bows sentinelled the pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a Victorian designer gown with flowing train.

Fashioned of candlelight English net-faced satin, the gown was enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace stardusted with pearls and iridescents. Satin stitched embroidery adorned the gown. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and bare off-the-shoulder illusion yoke extending to long fitted sleeves with a pouf of satin at the upper arm. The full skirt, with scalloped edge front, flowed gracefully from a natural waistline into a semi-cathedral train edged with crystal pleats.

The bride's original cathedral-length veil of silk illusion, flowed from a floral wreath of candlelight silk flowers and pearl teardrops. Puffs of silk illusion with scattered seed pearl accented the back of the head. It was designed by the bride and her mother.

She carried a bouquet of candlelight roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride's honor attendant was her only sister, Mrs. Helen Hill Tousps of Houma, La.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lisa LeBon Coward, the groom's sister, Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Janabeth Sweeney Jones, cousin of the bride, Paducah, Tex.; Mrs. Deborah Glover Walker, Lafayette, La.; Mrs. Tina Boustany Atkins, Baton Rouge, La.; Mrs. Marina Head Pizzolatto, Houma, La.; Miss Cheryl Boydell and Miss Bonnie Baumann, both from New Orleans.

Identically attired, their Victorian-inspired candlelight princess-length gowns featured iridescent satin-stitched embroidered leaves and flowers on English net over attached spaghetti strap underskirt of gleaming ecru satin. A high band neck, scalloped elbow sleeves and hemline on full skirt, sashed with satin completed the look.

Each carried a nosegay of mauve rubrum lilies, cream-colored roses and baby's breath.

Their head wreaths were fashioned with a delicate halo of baby's breath and tiny mauve silk flowers with a cascade of ribbons.

Misses Jennifer Elaine Tousps, godchild and niece of the bride; and Lauren LeBon Coward, godchild and niece of the groom, were flower girls. They wore princess-length candlelight batiste frocks, featuring old-fashioned smocked Bertha collars of double tiered ecru Victorian lace and mauve rosebuds. The large circular collar fell over pleats on the float-style dresses. The sleeves were short and puffed, trimmed with matching lace and mauve ribbon.

Handing out the leaflet missals to

back. Lace scallops edged the long sleeves and neckline. A full satin skirt was fitted with a wide horizontal hip band.

The balustrade of the curved stairway leading up to the reception rooms was entwined with greenery and bridal blooms. A huge bouquet of rubrum lilies, variegated white flowers and foliage rested on a tall pedestal just outside the curve of the stairway. Potted palms, ficus trees, urns and baskets filled with flowers turned the reception rooms into a garden setting.

A New Orleans jazz band provided music for the guests' entertainment. Custodian of the guest register was Ms. Sandra Hill Young, aunt of the bride.

Rome, Paris and London were honeymoon destinations.

Senior Citizens Happenings

By Eve McDonald

CANDIDATES BREAKFAST

The Bay St. Louis Senior Citizen's Club is sponsoring a breakfast to give themselves and other senior citizens an opportunity to hear from the candidates and ask them questions.

The breakfast will be at the Senior Center on the Old Spanish Trail Monday, May 6 from 8-10 a.m. The price of breakfast will be $1.50-$2 (large portions).

The candidates have been asked to speak or answer questions at about 9:30 a.m. All are invited.

SENIOR CITIZENS MONTH

May is Senior Citizen Month and as part of our celebration we will be making five trips to New Orleans French Quarter to visit and do some sight seeing.

RSVP will be taking their bus to help us on three of our trips as we have had such a big response. We hope that you have signed up as most of our trips are filled.

We will be happy to put you on the waiting list if you haven't yet signed up with Rosine Jushaway (467-9292).

Another activity we have planned for Thursday, May 2 is to participate in the senior olympics sponsored by our District Office and produced by the Gulfport Center.

We will ask those who would like to take part in this activity to please give their name to Rosine Jushaway.

The games will be ring toss, horseshoes, board games, granny square knitting, fast walk, and dancing. Trophies will be awarded and the winners will go to Tupelo to compete with North Mississippi Seniors.

There will be a picnic lunch at West Side Community Center in Gulfport and we will be taking several buses. Come and join the fun.

We will have our regular birthday/games party May 20. More about that later.

The center will be closed May 27 for Memorial Day.

COMING CONFERENCES

I will be in San Francisco this coming week attending the National Council on the Aging Conference. Here is where we hear all the good and bad, new and old news and activities concerning senior citizens. It is always very informative and gives us fresh ideas for programs, etc.

One of the extra workshops I will be attending will have to do with computers, another with aiding families with older members for whom they are responsible.

April 30-May 2 will be the Mississippi Gerontological Society meeting and it will be at Gulf Park. Dr. Eric Pfeiffer, MD will be the opening speaker at 6:30 p.m., April 30. If you are interested in participating, we have a schedule at the center.

BELLINGRATH GARDEN

We assisted RSVP take some of the seniors to visit this lovely garden. Everyone was very enthusiastic about the trip and would like to go again to see the roses in bloom.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor

The new crepe myrtles need protection

Our crepe myrtle campaign is now under way here in Hancock County. Crepe Myrtles are one of the most beautiful flowering trees in the South.

They flower when nearly everything else has long past bloomed.

If you purchase a crepe myrtle this year there are two diseases that you should be aware of that affect these trees.

Powdery mildew is the most serious and affects the flower, bud, young leaves and growing tips. The disease appears as slightly raised blister-like areas on young leaves. Leaves soon become covered with grayish-white powdery growth. As young leaves expand they become curled and distorted.

Flower buds attached become covered with the mildew before they open. They either fail to open or open improperly. Powdery mildew may spread to the mature flower parts causing a flower blight.

The control of powdery mildew requires sanitation and the use of fungicides.

The disease is most common during cool nights followed by warm days. It also occurs in crowded areas where air circulation is poor.

Application of a fungicide should be made at the first sign of infection. The fungicide to use should be benlate.

Sooty mold is another disease that affects crepe myrtle. This disease is seen as a sooty covering of the leaves. There are several molds or fungi that grow in the honeydew that is secreted by aphids feeding on the leaves. If the sooty appearance gets bad enough, light can be blocked out and trees will be stunted or yellow.

Control the insects that produce honeydew and you will usually control the disease. Malathion, at one application is usually sufficient to kill the aphids.

ASK OCHSNER

QI have been diagnosed as having diverticulitis. My grandmother had this condition in her later years. Can it be passed on to my children? If so, is there anything I can do for them now to prevent it?

AAs your own doctor has probably told you, diverticulitis is an inflammation stemming from diverticular disease—the gradual weakening of the walls of the lower intestines. This condition is also called diverticulosis. Diverticular disease develops gradually with age in susceptible individuals, and heredity does appear to play a part in susceptibility.

Dr. J. Byron Gathright, who heads Ochsner Clinic's department of colon and rectal surgery, says teaching your children proper eating habits may help them. The best preventive measure available to you is a diet with sufficient fiber. Diverticulitis patients frequently find that the symptoms of the disease—pain on the left lower side, cramping, gas, constipation—diminish when they include more fiber in their diets.

Fiber, or "roughage," passes through the digestive tract largely undigested, creating more bulk in the residue reaching the lower intestines. Fiber makes the stool larger and softer due to increased water trapped within the fiber. Transit time through the bowel is reduced, and bulkier stools are passed at an earlier time.

If you accustom your children and yourself to a diet with adequate amounts of fruit, fruit juices, green leafy vegetables, cereals like bran and oatmeal, and whole-grain breads, you will be helping them prevent diverticular disease—and help control your own.
